The MFLTweeterati guide

How to join or follow the MFLTweeterati!

The #MFLTweeterati is a dynamic and supportive community of language teachers, departments, consultants and organisations from the UK and Ireland who like to regularly share updates, links to resources and advice on anything and everything to do with languages and language learning. Anyone can follow the MFLTweeterati by subscribing to my list MFL Twitterers or by following the hashtag #mfltwitterati. Just ask to be put on the list. NB. Only UK or Irish teachers working in the UK or Ireland can be members. http://www.theguardian.com/profile/joe-dale

So what is Twitter?

- A social network started in 2006
- Users can send messages of up to 140 characters to their followers using @ and #
- Users can build their own professional learning networks (PLN) of like-minded educators by connecting with each other and sharing ideas and resources

Twitter terminology

- Tweet: a message limited to 140 characters written on Twitter

Technology and the new MFL curricula KS2-4

Can you please share laptop and iPad ideas on how technology can support changes to the new languages curricula e.g. translation, transcription, literary texts, memorisation, role-play and photo cards etc. Could you put your Twitter username on your notes and whether your suggestion is for laptops, iPads or both. Thank you #mfltwitteradi
