

Striving to be the best.....

Tel. (6221) 480-3326 0818-0735-1942 EducationExperts@hotmail.com www.BintangBahasa.com majalah = magazine saja = only, just makan = eat samping = beside mana = where sana = there mau = want saya = I, me, mine meja = table sebentar = momen meja = table sebentar = moment

mereka = they, them sekali = very; once minta = request, ask for s.t. sekarang = now minum = drink sekolah = school

mobil = car sekretaris = secretary

murid = student semua = all, every sendok = spoon

What's this? What's that?: Apa ini? Apa itu?:

What's this? Apa ini?
This is a book. (It's a book.) Ini buku.
Whose book? Buku siapa?
My book. Buku saya.

What's that? Apa itu?
That's a house. Itu rumah.
Whose house is it? Rumah siapa?
My house. Rumah saya.

Where is your house? Rumah kamu di mana? My house is over there. Rumah saya di sana.

Where's your book? Buku kamu (di) mana?

My book is at my house. Buku saya (ada) di rumah.

Whose house is this? Ini rumah siapa?
This is my house. Ini rumah saya.

ini = this

..... where's my book???? buku saya (di) mana???

Here it is. Di sini.

The key to learning a new language quickly, is to simply begin developing the physical ability and reflexes along with an intuitive understanding of the 'way the language works'.

mulai = start

This booklet quickly gets basic vocabulary and grammar points 'embedded' in your understanding without any clear 'conscious' understanding. That comes later. It's like hanging a picture on the wall. First you have to put the nail in the wall, then you hang the 'picture' (the broader explanation and understanding of words and grammar points).

Note that definitions for each new word are provided at the bottom of each page, and words and expressions are repeated often because it's very, very easy to forget!

The layout is also specifically designed for added effectiveness with Indonesian on the right, with larger print and English readable subconsciously on the left in your peripheral vision as you simply read the Indonesian in a natural manner.

This booklet is set up to print on A4 paper (both sides) then folded into a handy booklet. Thus, when reading it here, you have to go in a zig-zag pattern down, then zig-zag back up. Just follow the page numbers in the bottom corners.

toko = store, shop

selesai = finished

tukar = change; exchange, swap ya, iya = yes yang = which apa = what itu = that sana = there ada = 'is/are' kamu = you, your saya = I, me, mine buku = book mana = where siapa = who di = at rumah = house sini = here

14

ada = to be, exist adalah = to be, exist air = water air putih = plain water ambil = take antara = between

avo = let's (sl)

apa = what apakah = (to begin quest arsitek = architect atas = on, above

bagus = fine, nice baju = clothes; shirt Bapak, Pak = sir, Mr. baru = new; just now bawah = under, below belajar = learn, study belakang = behind; ba belum = not yet besar = big, large bisa = can, able to buku = book

beli = buy coba = try

dan = and depan = front; in front of di = in, at, on dia = he, she, it dingin = cold

dua = two dua kali = two times, twice garpu = fork gedung = building
gelas = glass (for drinking)

There's no need for pauses or explanations, but take your time if you like. 'Trying too hard' though will actually slow down the learning process. Trust your innate abilities even if you've never experienced learning in this way.

Listen to the audio file or your teacher and simply repeat what you hear. Indonesian pronunciation is much easier than English, but it still takes some practice. And the key is practice; not remembering. Develop a feeling for the sound and rhythm.

Methods which use flash cards and sample sentences are far more difficult and ineffective. Simply scanning the vocabulary list, again letting your intuitive learning take control, is far more effective than flash cards. Simple dialogues where the idea is clear are far more effective than sample sentences.

Step 1: Listen, read and repeat, getting the sound clearly implanted in your ears, mouth and mind. Step 2: Very, very simple exercises such as choosing between 'di' and 'ke'. This is the first step to activating your ability to speak the language on your own. Often students can then progress to formulated situations and actually conversing without the additional intermediary exercises which are available.

kecil = small, little kenapa = why kerja = work kita = we (includes person talking to) koran = newspaper

kunci = key kursi = chair

lagi = again, more lap = towel, tissue; wipe lihat = look, see

What's that? Apa itu?

That's a magazine. Itu majalah.

Where's the magazine? Di mana majalahnya. (Majalahnya di mana?)

It's over there. Di sana. (Di situ.)

What's that? Apa itu?

That's a magazine. Itu majalah.

It's there. Itu di sana. (Itu di situ.)

This is a newspaper. Ini koran.

It's here. Itu di sini.

That is a letter. Itu surat.

It's over there. Itu di sana.

That's a letter and a magazine. Itu surat dan majalah.

They are there. Ada di sana.

What's that? Apa itu?
That's a car. Itu mobil.

Where's the car? Mobilnya di mana?

It's there. Di sana.

What's this one? Yang ini apa?

It's a book. Itu buku.

Who's this? Ini siapa? (Siapa ini?)

This is David. Ini David.

Where's David? David di mana?

He's here. David di sini. (David ada di sini.)

That's Julie. Itu Julie.

She's there. Julie di situ. (Julie ada di sana.)

ada = to be, exist ; is / are koran = newspaper situ = sana = there
-nya = the, his, her, their majalah = magazine surat = letter dan = and mobil = car yang = which

	Wha	t's this?	Apa ini?			air	bagus
	This is a glass.					air putih	baru
Would you l	Would you like something to drink?			um?			besar
-	Yes,	please.	Mau.			mau (want) is simply an amazingly useful word in Indonesian.
What would you like to drink?			Mau minum apa?			As you can see there's no need to explain the grammar at all,
	Plain water is fine.			saja.		it's inherently obvious, and after just a booklet, it will be almost second natur
			•	•		bookiet, it will be almost second flatur	.
Wo	Would you like some tea?			?		Other verbs are used in a similar way, where the verb is repeated instead of saying "yes" as we would in English.
	Yes, please.
						Suka? (Do you like it?)
	Wha	t's this?	Apa ini?			Suka. (Yes, I like it.)
	This is	my car.	Ini mobil saya.			Again, no time is wasted with detailed and confusing explanations using grammar terms that most of us don't even know in English.
	Is	it new?	Baru?
	Yes, it's new.
	ve	ry nice.	Baru. bagus sekali.
						Yes, this is how children learn. They intuitively develop an understanding of the rules.
	Once.	Twice.	Sekali. Dua kali.			Unlike many other programs that profess to teach in a similar manner, ours maintains a very, very basic level, same as a
	Jus	st once.	Baru sekali.
	This is the first time.					child's vocabulary remains very, very	basic for quite some
	Just now.			a.		time, developing slowly then at an ev
						moon	ya, iya
W	here's the news	spaper?	Koran(nya) di mana?				yang
	Over there.					piring
	Where's my book?			ya (di) mana? ((Di) Mana buku saya?)	pisau
F	Here it is. It's over here.		Di sini.			pulpen	arsitek murid
W	Where's your magazine?			kamu di mana?		rumah	sekretaris
	Here it is.						supir
	Do you want it?					sekolah
	Yes, please.					sendok
	Thank you.			asih.		surat
air	= water	gelas	= glass	saja	= only, just	teh
air putih	= drinking water	mau	= want	sekali	= very; once	tissue
bagus	= nice, fine	minum	= drink	dua kali	= two times	toko
baru	= new; just	putih	= white	teh terima kasih	= tea = thank you
3				terina kasili	- triarik you

ada ayo apa ambil apakah belajar beli kapan bisa kenapa coba ikut mana mengapa keria siapa lap

> Notice that there are 2 forms to the vocabulary list. Previously (or at the back of the booklet) is an alphabetical listing showing the English equivalent. Note also that every attempt is to give a simple one word equivalent which acts as the 'hook' upon which the definition and understanding is later expanded, but still leaving the all important 'hook' to hang your 'painting'.

The list shown here gives just the Indonesian words and they're grouped according to similar 'ideas' and 'concepts'. For example 'time' (all words related to time), and 'location' (where, here, there, on,

Doing this immediately starts organizing the list of new words building up in your head. Alphabetical listings are only useful as a dictionary reference. What's extremely useful is to have similar words grouped together for easy reference (fast, quick, speedy, rapid...).

Grouping words as opposites is also very, very useful. All these small details are critical in providing the necessary links to help everything 'stick' in your memory. One by one they may not look significant, but all together they produce an amazingly different result.

We like to use the comparison of land transport and flying. They may look similar, with engines and wheels and such, but they are totally different. And as you know, flying from Sydney to Jakarta is a whole lot guicker and more pleasant than travelling by land.

under,...), and 'people' (he, she, I, father, brother,...)

sini situ

sekarang sesudah terima kasih setelah 'ma kasih

What's this? Apa ini? It's a kev. Itu kunci. For what? Kunci apa? It's the house kev. Kunci rumah.

Where's the car keys? Kunci mobil (di) mana?

> Here they are. Di sini.

> > Thanks. Terima kasih.

What's this? Apa ini? A shirt. Baju.

Whose shirt? Baju siapa? Your shirt. Baju kamu.

I want to buy some new clothes. Sava mau beli baju baru.

> Where? Di mana? Over there. Di sana.

New clothes, ya? Baju baru ya?

Ya, they're new. Ya, baru.

Where did you buy them? Beli di mana?

> Over there. Di sana.

Bagus. Bagus sekali. Nice. Very nice.

Do you have a glass? Ada gelas? (Punya gelas?)

Yes. Would you like one? Ada. Mau?

Yes please. I'd like a drink. Mau. Mau minum. What would you like to drink? Mau minum apa?

> Water, please. Air putih.

Cold? Dingin?

Yes please, cold. Ya, dingin, 'ma kasih. (terima kasih)

baiu = clothes : shirt, blouse dingin = cold 'ma kasih = thanks beli = buy kunci = key punya = have ya, iya = yes

11

dan

di

ke

ini

itu

dia

kami

kamu mereka

Pak, Bapak

kita

saya

belum

sudah

lagi

nanti

sebentar

kalau

What's this?	Apa ini?	Whose black car is this?	Mobil hitam ini punya siapa?
It's a table.	Meja.	It's theirs.	Punya mereka.
And this, what's this?	Dan (yang) ini, apa?
That's a chair.	(Itu) Kursi.	Our table is at the back,	Meja kita di belakang,
That's a nice table. I like it. I like it a lot.	By the end of the booklet, the brand new student has had a pretty good workout, and even not so new students will find the exercise working 'muscles they didn't know they had'.	and their table is at the front. Could I have a tissue please? I want to wipe the table.	dan meja mereka di depan. (Boleh) Minta tissue. Saya mau lap meja.
Where did you buy it.	You'll also notice that "Apa ini?" is still being	i want to wipe the table.	Gaya mad lap meja.
In Bandung.	repeated and is completely 'second nature' by now. It was never really even 'taught' and never even	What would you like to drink? Tea, please.	Mau minum apa? Teh.
Where's my book?	processed by your 'left-logical-brain', yet it has been completely learned.	Hot tea?	Teh panas?
Over there. On the table. On the table.	Like the theory of aerodynamics: it just works, when	Yes, please.	Ya, teh panas.
	the entire system is set up properly.	What's this?	Apa ini?
Where's my magazine?	Majalah saya (di) mana?	□ It's a fork.	Itu garpu.
Over there.	Di situ.	And this?	Dan ini?
Under the chair.	Di bawah kursi.	A spoon. Sendok.
		And this?	Dan ini?
And the newspaper, where is it?	Dan koran, (di) mana?	A knife.	Pisau.
It's there also,	Di sana juga,	And this?	Dan ini?
under the chair.	di bawah kursi.	A plate.	Piring.
Whose book is this?	Ini buku siapa?	After eating, I put my fork	Sesudah makan, saya taruh garpu
Which one?	Yang mana?	and spoon on top of the plate.	dan sendok di atas piringnya.
This one.	Yang ini.	He wasn't finished yet, and put	Dia belum selesai, dan (dia) taruh
That's my book.	Itu buku saya.	his fork beside his plate.	garpunya (di) samping piringnya.
Do you want it? Yes please. Thank you.	Mau? Mau. Terima kasih.	Now, we're finished studying also. We can study some more later, ya?	Sekarang, kita juga sudah selesai belajar. Nanti kita belajar lagi, ya?
atas = above juga	= also, too suka = like		= towel; wipe panas = hot bawah = below, under kursi	= chair yang = which	garpu = fork lagi	= more, again piring = plate
meja	= table, desk	hitam = black makan	• = they, them samping = beside kita = we (incl. u) minta	= ask for s.t. sendok = spoon 10

Is there something you needed?	Ada apa? (Mau apa?)	What's that?	Apa itu?
I'd like my book, please.	Mau ambil buku saya.	That's a building.	Itu gedung.
Why?	Kenapa?	Who works there?	Siapa yang kerja di sana?
I want to study.	Mau belajar.	Dewi works there.	Dewi kerja di sana.
When?	Kapan?	Dewi works in an office.	Dewi kerja di kantor.
Now.	Sekarang.	She's a secretary.	Dewi (adalah) sekretaris.
Ok, just a moment.	Ok, sebentar.
Here you are.	Ini.	Where do you work?	Kamu kerja di mana?
Thanks.	Terima kasih.	I work in an office.	Saya kerja di kantor.
	(setelah)	I'm a secretary too.	Saya juga sekretaris. (Saya sekretaris juga.)
Later, when you're finished,	Nanti, sesudah (kalau sudah) selesai,	I live in Bekasi.	Saya tinggal di Bekasi.
please put it on top of the table, ok?	taruh di atas meja sini, ya?
Sure. (Ok.)	Baiklah. (Ok.)	This is Eric.	Ini Eric.
Thanks.	Terima kasih.	Eric works in my office.	Eric kerja di kantor saya.
		He's an architect.	Dia arsitek.
Whose is this?	Ini punya siapa?	Eric lives in Jakarta.	Eric tinggal di Jakarta.
It's mine.	Punya saya.
Come here and get it.	Ayo, (ke) sini ambil.	Who's that?	Itu siapa?
-		That's Budi.	Itu Budi.
Where's?:	Di mana?:	Where does he work?	Kerja di mana?
There's a book, a newspaper	Di sana ada buku, koran	He's a driver.	Dia supir.
and a magazine.	dan majalah.	He's Eric's driver.	Dia (adalah) supir Eric.
The newspaper is between	Koran (ada) di antara
the book and the magazine.	buku dan majalah.	Where does Budi live?	Budi tinggal di mana?
It's a very big book.	Buku itu, besar sekali. (Bukunya, besar sekali.)	He lives in Tanggerang.	Dia tinggal di Tanggerang.
Where's the chair?	Kursi di mana?	Where's the newspaper?	Koran(nya) di mana? (Di mana koran(nya)?)
It's under the table.	Di bawah meja.	In your office, on your desk.	Di kantor kamu, di atas meja kamu.
Where are the books?	Buku-buku(nya) di mana?	Thanks.	Terima kasih.
On the table.	Di atas meja.
ambil = take kenapa	= why sesudah = after	adalah = to be, exist gedung	= building sekolah = school
antara = between mengapa	= why setelah = after	apakah (to begin question) kantor	= office sekretaris = secretary
besar = big nanti		•	= work supir = driver
kalau = if sebentar	= moment taruh = put	dia = he, him, his	tinggal = stay, live
kapan = when 9			6

Mom, where's my book?	Ma, buku saya (di) mana?	I want to buy a newspaper also.	Saya (juga) mau beli koran juga .
Look under the table.	Lihat di bawah meja.	Where are we going?	Mau beli di mana?
Is it there?	Ada?	Just over there,	Di sana saja,
Yes, it is.	Ada.	to the small store.	(yang / di) toko kecil itu.
Thanks.	Terima kasih.	We can buy some ice cream too, ya?	Kita beli es krim juga, ya?
		Ya.	lya.
Where are you going?	Mau ke mana?
I'm going to school.	Mau ke sekolah.	May I see the pen at the front here.	Pak, mau lihat pulpen yang di depan sini.
		Thank you.	Terima kasih.
Mom, where's my new blouse?	Ma, baju saya yang baru (di) mana?	Try the one at the back there.	Coba yang belakang sana.
It's (in/over) here, do you want it?	Ada di sini, mau?	Yes, I want this one.	Ya, saya mau (yang) ini.
Yes please.	Mau.	Thank you.	Terima kasih.
(Here you are. Here it is.) Here you go.	lni.
Thanks.	Terima kasih.	Do all the students have books?	Semua murid sudah punya buku?
		Do they have pens?	Sudah punya pulpen?
at school:	di sekolah:	Are they ready to learn?	Siap belajar?
Hey, what's that?	Hey, apa itu?	Yes, they're ready.	Siap.
It's my new magazine.	Majalah baru saya. (Majalah saya yang baru.)	Ok, let's begin.	Ayo, kita mulai.
(looking at it) Great.	(lihat-lihat) Bagus.
I have a new magazine also.	Saya juga punya majalah baru (juga).	Where's your car?	Mobil kamu di mana?
Do you want to see it?	Mau lihat?	Over there.	Di sana.
Sure.	Mau.	Where's your house?	Rumah kamu di mana?
Here it is.	Ini.	Over there also.	Di sana juga.
Mmmmm, it's great as well.	Mmmmm,bagus juga.
Do you wanna swap?	Mau tukar?	What's this?	Apa ini?
Sure.	Mau.	It's a pen.	Itu pulpen.
		What's that?	Apa itu?
Where are you going now?	Sekarang, mau ke mana?	It's a newspaper.	Itu koran.
I want to buy a pen.	Mau beli pulpen.	And that?	Dan itu?
Do you want to come with me?	Mau ikut?	It's a magazine.	Itu majalah.
Sure.	Mau.
ikut = join, accompany lihat	= look, see sekarang = now	ayo = let's depan	= in front of Pak, Bapak = Sir, Mr.
ke = to, towards pulpen	= pen tukar = change	belajar = learn, study kecil	= small semua = all, every belakang = behind, back of kita	= we siap = ready = start, begin sudah = already
7		coba = try murid	= student toko = store, shop 8

So, that gives you a fairly clear idea of how we approach language learning. If you like what you see, please sign up for one of our packages. You'll be glad you did.

I had a Japanese student want to start learning English and didn't want to learn Indonesian. She'd been here in Jakarta for 8 months and didn't like the language. I couldn't understand why but she insisted she didn't like it and didn't want to learn it, even though she would be living here for 5 years!

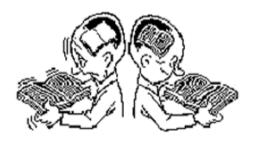

After her second or third English lesson she said, "Okay, I'll try your Bahasa program." During her second lesson, simply reading this and other booklets, and trying some basics questions and answers, 'the light started coming on'. As she read, she'd say, "Ahhh!!", finally beginning to understand. That's about the time we decided we needed to get serious about getting our method out there and helping others.

Like the guys in the picture, most of us know the feeling of the guy on the left. Let us show you what it's like to be the guy on the right.

Booklet 1

What's this? / What's that? Apa ini? / Apa itu?

Discover how easy learning can be... We will show you the secrets.