Teaching, learning and assessment activities

(Teachers make a selection from the following activities as appropriate):

- View photos of occupations, eg Hima dan Mega DVD and/or IndoInk flashcards. Students compile a list of Indonesian occupations. Discuss what students notice about photos. In English compare and contrast types of work in Indonesia and Australia and discuss the reasons for the predominance of particular occupations eg kaki lima.
- Play games (charades, pictionary, flashcard race) to learn vocabulary.
- Ask about personality, discuss personal characteristics and find out what job someone wants to do. Refer Bagus Sekali 3 Textbook Langkah 1: Cobalah Ini Mau Menjadi apa? p.6. Students use as model to write about themselves.
- Read sentences with bekerja and pekerjaan and predict the rule for the different prefixes. Distinguish the difference between verb and noun forms (eg bekerja and pekerjaan) and develop dictionary skills to find the correct meaning for verbs and nouns in various sentences.
- Listen to descriptions of various occupations and match to place of work. Students listen for context and determine occupation by sequencing pictures to conversation. Refer Keren 1 Activity Book 5.6 Di mana Anda bekerja? p.90 or Bagus Sekali 3 Workbook Langkah 1 Exercise E Apakah dia perawat? p3.
- Recognise the formation of vocabulary items for pe- prefix nouns related to occupations (Bagus Sekali 3 Langkah 1 Textbook p.14 and complete exercise in Student Book on p.10 – Tidak begitu susah A and B).
- Make vocabulary cards based on occupations. In pairs, students use cards to practise Mau menjadi apa?.( Refer Bagus Sekali 3 Textbook p.17 for list of occupations and/or Suara Siswa Teacher's Resource p.5 for pictures of occupations.)
- Predict classification of occupations based on terminology—tukang, juru and ahli—by analysing tukang becak, tukang sampah, juru rawat, juru tulis, juru masak, ahli hukum and ahli komputer.
- Discuss the cultural significance of the terminology tukang, juru, ahli, for various occupations. Refer Bagus Sekali 3 Textbook p15. Discuss classification of tukang kebun, tukang kayu and tukang roti in comparison with Australian equivalents based on qualifications required.
- Develop dictionary skills. Students use a search engine (e.g. Google) to find out the equivalent Indonesian meaning of jobs they would like to do when dictionaries do not provide meanings (e.g. marine biologist, social worker).

Evidence of learning:

- Discussion about the type and status of occupations in Indonesia will indicate students' preconceptions.
- Reading and Listening activities assess the ability to read and listen to a range of texts by determining the gist, extracting key information and summarising.
- Speaking activities (survey, quiz and interview) assess the ability to interact with others and reproduce relevant information about their career aspirations.
- Writing activities (profile, descriptions of occupations, job advertisement, notice) indicate the ability to write descriptively for a particular audience, purpose and context in which they will apply learned vocabulary & structures.
- The audition tape assesses the ability to sequence ideas and use a range of appropriate vocabulary and structures, demonstrating an understanding of the topic and an ability to communicate appropriately according to audience, purpose and context.

- Indicate preference using lebih suka ... daripada. Refer Keren 1 Course Book pp80-81.
- Predict most popular jobs. Complete surveys with other class members to find out their preferred job. (Refer to Keren 1 Student Activity Book Exercise 5.10 p.94 for a survey form.) Evaluate results to determine most popular jobs in the class.
- Play Musical Adjectives game to encourage students to speak using key functions. As music stops, student picks up a card closest to them or refers to a key expression posted on the wall and uses it to form a sentence. eg lebih suka = Saya lebih suka menjadi seorang guru daripada seorang polisi.
- Listen to people describing what they would like to do, match the occupation with the person and indicate suitability to the job. (Refer Bagus Sekali 3 Workbook Langkah 1 Exercise D.)
- Quiz a class member and work out to which career they are suited. (Refer to quiz in Bagus Sekali 3 Langkah 1 Textbook Kamu mau menjadi apa? P.16.)
- In pairs, students argue about why they should be the star of a film. (Refer Bagus Sekali 3 Textbook Langkah 1 Bicara Bebas p.9.)
- Listen to interviews of various people describing their jobs and extract key information. (Refer Keren 1 Course Book 5.17.)
- Plan, draft and write a profile about themselves including personal details, interests and aspirations. (Refer to models in Bagus Sekali 3 Textbook, Suara Siswa 1, Keren 1, Gadis magazine etc.)
- View Beragam-macam pekerjaan video. As students view the video, they fill in the blanks to complete a profile of the workers presented. Discuss similarities and differences of occupations in Indonesian and Australian contexts.
- Read/Listen to audio texts and use as model in which students describe what job they would like to do and why. (Refer Keren 1 Coursebook Exercise 5.20 Kamu ingin menjadi apa?, Keren 1 Reading test topic 5 Conversation 1, Keren 1 Listening test topic 5 – Conversation 2 and 3 or Bagus Sekali 3 listening assessment A Kalau saya sudah besar.)
- Respond in writing to interview questions about personal details, interests and career aspirations. Use as a basis to interview and respond orally to another student. (Refer Bagus Sekali 3 Teacher's Resource Kit Siswa Keren p.17.)
- Read short texts of family descriptions including information about jobs in Suara Siswa 1 Student Book Ini Keluarga saya. Use as a model to write about own family.
- Write brief descriptions of occupations and play Siapa saya? to guess occupation.
- Read job advertisements and extract key information. (Refer Suara Siswa 3 p.80 Kesempatan Kerja!)

Ongoing feedback to students:

- Self-correcting exercises targeting knowledge of linguistic structures and comprehension skills will provide immediate feedback.
- Oral feedback will be provided about intercultural understanding and ability to speak in Indonesian during the pair work and whole-class activities.
- Written feedback will be provided for writing activities and assessment task.

or Iklan Mini website, Gamelan on-line magazine, Indo Media magazine etc.)

- Look at job advertisements and highlight object focus construction in the third person. Determine meanings and context for use.
- Write a job advertisement, stating job and qualities sought.
- Write a notice seeking work. (For models refer to Suara Siswa Stages 3 and 4 Mencari pekerjaan? p.81.)
- Complete a job application form. (Refer Bagus Sekali 3 Teacher's Resource Kit Lamaran pekerjaan saya p.16.)
- Draw attention to appropriate appearance (clothing, hair, makeup) and gestures for presentation on an Indonesian teen television show. Students view shows such as Indonesian Idol, MTV Asia and pictures of young people in popular magazines and compare and contrast appearance in Indonesian and Australian contexts.
- Create an audition tape for a new Indonesian teen TV show (see Assessment task).
