

Where's the toy section?

The words for 'department store' are toko serba ada. There are a number of large department store chains in Indonesia such as Batik Keris and Ramayana.

The words toko serba ada (literally 'a shop with everything') is a general term only. It is never included when stating the actual name of a department store.

For example, it is sufficient to simply say:

Saya membeli baju ini di Ramayana. I bought this shirt at Ramayana.

In fact, you will also often hear and see the English term 'Department Store' used instead of Toko Serba Ada.

You can buy a wide variety of goods in department stores in Indonesia. Just as in Australia, the same types of goods are displayed together in different sections of the store.

Here are the names of some of the sections.

Baju wanita	Women's clothing
Baju pria	Men's clothing
Baju anak-anak	Children's clothing
Peralatan Rumah Tangga	Household appliances / utensils
Olahraga	Sporting goods
Alat Elektronik	Electrical appliances
Mainan	Toys
Aksesoris	Fashion accessories

Asking where a particular section is located:

In previous worksheets, you learnt how to ask 'where' something is by using the phrase di mana. (See Module 2, Worksheet 5 and Module 3, Worksheet 3.)

The word for 'section' is bagian. When asking and talking about the different sections in a department store, put bagian before the name of the section.

For example:

Di mana bagian baju pria?	Where is the men's clothing section?
Bagian baju pria ada di lantai 2.	The men's clothing section is on the 2 nd floor.

Exercises

- a) The word mainan means 'toys'. Remember back to what you already learnt about forming nouns from verbs (Module 4, Worksheet 7). From what verb do you think mainan is formed?

- b) Why do you think the resulting noun is applied to the objects we call 'toys'?

The different sections of a department store are listed in the box below.

Read the statements on Page 3 and work out on which level each section is located.

Write the names of the sections on the sign on Page 3. You may have to adjust your answers as you progress through the statements.

- ❖ Baju Pria
- ❖ Peralatan Rumah Tangga
- ❖ Aksesoris
- ❖ Baju Anak-Anak • Mainan
- ❖ Olahraga dan Alat Elektronik
- ❖ Baju Wanita

3. Look at this floor plan of a single storey department store.

Anda ada di sini.

Where's the toy section?

You are a shop assistant in this department store in Jakarta and have been assigned the duty of welcoming customers at the front entrance and directing them to where they need to go.

The arrow on the map indicates where you are standing.

- Answer the customers' questions by using words and phrases for location and directions that you have learnt so far this year.
- Try to give a detailed description of each location. Some people do not ask for a specific section. Rather, they tell you which item they are looking for. You will need to tell them the correct section to go to and its location.

Refer to the vocabulary list for help. You might also like to refer back to the following worksheets:
